Message from H.E. the Ambassador

I wish to welcome all Kenyan Students to France on my behalf and that of my members of Staff. I strongly hope that you will all exploit the richness of the French cultural and multicultural diversity during the course of your studies.

The challenges that you may face in studying abroad should be regarded as one of the positive factors that motivate your enthusiasm and self-discipline in making your choice of discipline.

I would further like to emphasise that despite the language barrier encountered and different system of education, that Kenyan Students turnover in France, remains relatively high.

I wish you all good luck in all your students and in your future endeavours.

Good luck to you all.

AMBASSADOR

Aupair Programme

The Aupair Programme attached Kenyan students to some French families to work for limited hours a day, in exchange for accommodation while studying on part time basis, with little or no payment from the family.

It is important to note that the Embassy would not be in a position to intervene in case of any difficulty encountered by the student, regarding the change of his/her status, as such private arrangements and contracts are usually only for a period of 18 months, hence without guarantee.

Resident Permit

Kenyan students should note that resident permit issued only allows them to study in France as provision is yet to be made between the two governments on this matter. As a result, students are still strongly advised to seek financial help back home before coming to France to avoid the problems of having to look for employment which is very scarce, to finance their studies.

Accommodation

The Embassy is aware of the problems faced by many Kenyan students concerning accommodation. It is important to note that foreign students registered in any institution of higher learning in France can apply to Centre Régionale des Oeuvres Universitaires (CROUS), for university residence. It is advisable to students to contact directly the CROUS Students Service for a quick follow-up of their dossier. More information can be obtained from the CNOUS-CROUS website: www.cnous.fr

Employment

With regards to employment, it is to be noted that the two governments are yet to resolve the issue of work permits, which would open enough opportunities for Kenyan students to study and maintain themselves without having to revert to their parents for financial assistance.

Although, only holders of certain categories of resident permit are allowed to work and majority of Kenyans who came to France with the intention to study do not fall within these categories. On the other hand, students opting for voluntary work programs would need to request for required visas for these jobs before entering France. Students are allowed to work 20 hours but that is applicable to only those students with resident permit that allows them to do so, which depends on the agreement between the two countries concerned.
